

Fall Overcoats.

The average man prefers a quiet gray or Oxford Overcoat on the ever-stylish Chesterfield model. And so we show hundreds of such coats in plain or silk-faced models, that are dignified and dressy, $10 to $30.

Plenty of quiet grays and Oxfords full silk lined, and many handsome black thibet coats the same, from $15 to $30.

The line-up of fancy Overcoats includes fancy grays in fine heringbone one weaves, pin checks and spaced striped Oxfords, in soft-finished fabrics of great beauty. $15 to $30.

Reckers for boys from 3 to 8 years, in a big range of new styles so different from the usual carried-over-for-years stock the average store shows.

Top Coats for boys and children $5 upward.

KING'S DAUGHTERS HIT HIGH STEPS ON TROLLEY CARS

The King's Daughters and Sons at their 14th annual convention in New Haven yesterday re-elected all officers of the state branch as follows: State secretary, Mrs. Isiah W. Sneath, of New Haven; recording secretary, Miss Eva L. Hudson, of New London; treasurer, Miss Harriet D. Eaton, Hartford; executive commission, Miss Leslie Blackmer, of Thomaston; Miss Ellen J. Wind, of Waterbury, and Miss Arville Rector, of this city.

The main interest of yesterday's session, however, centered in the discussion of a letter by Mrs. Caroline B. Buell, president of the W. C. T. U., urging the King's Daughters and Sons to take some action against the high steps on the trolley cars of the Connecticut company. As a result of this discussion the following resolutions were adopted by a unanimous vote.

Whereas, The steps on the trolley cars owned by the Connecticut railroad are so high that it is very difficult and oftentimes dangerous for women and children to enter and leave the same, therefore be it

Resolved, That this organization petition the Consolidated railroad and specifically ask that all cars under its control be so arranged as to better serve the interests of public health and safety.

"We women have suffered these high steps long enough," declared Mrs. Buell, in her communication to the conference, and the 300 delegates present endorsed the above resolution emphatically.

The resolutions were sent to the trolley officials at once.

Site Offered for Foresters' Home

A tender of a suitable site for erecting a Foresters' home in this city was received last evening, by the board of managers of the Foresters' building fund. No definite action was taken toward accepting or rejecting it. With the tender is a condition that the building to be erected thereon shall not cost less than $100,000. The location of the site is a secret, but it is said to be not far from the center of the city.

Mr. F. G. Fritz, Oneonta, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is mild, pleasant and effective, and cures habitual constipation. F. B. Brill, and Curtis Pharmacy, local agents.

Telephone Company To Change Charter

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Southern New England Telephone company will be held on November 2, to act upon the ratification of an amendment to the charter of this company authorizing the management of the affairs of the business of the company to be conducted by not less than three nor more than fifteen directors, thus allowing an increase in the number of directors from nine to fifteen.

The date of the annual meeting and report may also be changed from the last Tuesday in January to the first Tuesday in February.

There are now six representatives on the board in New Haven. This number will not be enlarged upon, but it is quite likely that new branches will be added later on who will represent other parts of the territory operated.

The reason for changing the date of the annual meeting to the first Tuesday in February comes in consequence of the growth of the business of the company, it being found impossible to get out the reports to stockholders of the company at an earlier date.

KING EDWARD AND HIS CLOSE ADVISERS IN CRISIS OVER LAND TAX LEGISLATION

HERBERT H. ASQUITH

KING EDWARD

WINSTON S. CHURCHILL

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE

Coupled with her war scare over Germany's activity, Great Britain is threatened with an eternal political crisis over the adoption of the budget and its opposition by the landowning peers. The situation over the land tax measure is so acute that the king has for the first time in his reign taken an active hand in legislation. The summons of Herbert H. Asquith, prime minister and first lord of the treasury, to Balmoral, and the fact that the king remained away from the Newmarket races show how the monarch is concerned over the situation. According to the British constitution, the monarch never interferes with legislative authority except when he is needed in such matters as the formation of a new ministry or a political crisis that threatens a deadlock. The latter contingency is what England faces today. It is believed that the king hopes to pacify the conservative peers by promising that with the passing of the budget parliament will at once be dissolved, thus cutting off a vast mass of pending legislation. The ministry, however, is not favorable to any such compromise because of the many useful bills which they hope to pass. The financial side of the situation is grave in the extreme. Men high in the councils of finance fear a panic in the event of a deadlock over the budget, and King Edward has stepped into the breach and is exercising all his political ingenuity to avert trouble. His closest advisers are Mr. Asquith, David Lord George, chancellor of the exchequer, and Winston Spencer Churchill, president of the board of trade.

YALE DECREASE IN ALL DEPARTMENTS

As the Yale law and medical departments have had a big falling off in their newcomers this year, losses in the scientific and academic departments' entrance registration means that there will be fewer men at Yale this year than last.

The preliminary list of undergraduate students, issued this week, shows a slight decrease from the figures of last year in the number in the entering classes of both undergraduate departments. The preliminary enrollment in the academic freshman class this year is 345 (including second year men who, on account of conditions, are rated as freshmen), and the preliminary enrollment in the Sheffield freshman class is 407 (also including rated men). The figures in the preliminary list for the academic classes are, seniors, 255; juniors, 325; sophomores, 239; freshman, 345; total, 1,254, or just nineteen less than the final enrollment in academic last year. In Sheffield the preliminary figures are, seniors, 239;

Juniors, 227; freshmen, 407; special, 14; total, 977, a slight increase over similar figures for last year. This increase is due to the larger upper classes, which in turn are accounted for by the exceedingly large entering Sheffield classes of the past two years. The preliminary list gives the names of 125 members of the university with the rank of full professor, 72 assistant professors, 144 instructors, and 71 assistants in instruction.

C. R. Kluger, the Jeweler, 10-6 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities disappeared, and I can now attend to business every day, and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed." SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The marriage of Miss Lucy A. Lee to George S. Bissell, proprietor of the Arcade restaurant, was celebrated yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock by the Rev. H. A. Davenport, pastor of the People's Presbyterian church, at 1008 Fairfield avenue. Following the ceremony the bride and groom went to New York.

Patrolman Edward T. Dailey was presented with a gold watch, chain and charm last evening at his home, 239 Haral avenue, by the Rev. Father William Fitzgerald of Brooklyn. In the presence of a gathering of friends, who called upon the patrolman to congratulate him on his birthday and wish him many others. The whole thing was a surprise to Patrolman Dailey and he thanked his friend sincerely. A musical programme and supper followed the presentation.

M. E. B. Manning spent Tuesday in New Britain, Meriden and Bristol.
